In Memoriam

GUY BOYINGTON, '38

No painter's hand could match the sheen
Reflected in the skies;
The painting by the Great Unseen
All human art defies;
A fairer picture can not be,
No hand of man could mar
The beauty and the majesty
Of sunset at the bar.

J. A. BUCHANAN.

MISS BETSY WOOTTON

Every school that rates has a pep enthusiast. Astoria High is no exception. When you speak of clever ideas for rallies, pep assemblies, Hi-Jinks, or anything that will promote enthusiasm for the activities at Astoria High, Miss Wootton is tops.

Football and basketball boys know her as a friend, counsellor, and banquet promoter. The Pep Club knows her as a leader who gives unreservedly of her time and talent. The entire student body know her as a school spirit dynamo.

In recognition of her contribution to the extra curricular activities at Astoria High, we affectionately dedicate this 1937 Zephyrus to Miss Betsy Wootton.

PACIFIC OCEAN COLUMBIA

. . . Foreword

Just as the river flows on like a dream, so pass our high school days. And just as the waters of the river some day reach the sea, so our high school days must eventually come to a close. . . . When this book comes off the press, some of you will have reached that place in your course where you will be ready to enter the sea of life. . . . If we have succeeded in preserving in this Zephyrus some of those bits of your high school days that you cherished in your dream, we shall have accomplished our purpose in compiling this book.

The Student Council is composed of the student body officers, who represent the students in managing finances and business matters, and in supervising activities.

The high light of the activities of the Council this year was the purchase, in conjunction with the school board, of a sound-projector. The Council also sponsored a Pep Rally, a Hi-Jinks, and the District Tournament, chartered a ferry for the game with Ilwaco, which was played at Chinook, and issued season basketball tickets.

Mr. Towler acts as adviser for this group.

The spring of 1934 brought to the Astoria High School a small but peppy class, who chose for their motto "Not at the top, but climbing."

During the second term the traditional Sophomore Hallowe'en Dance was held by this class in Patriot Hall. The dance proved to be a tremendous success and was the first stepping stone in the upward climb. These congenial Sophs were guided ably by Mary Lou Wilson.

During the second year the class began to demonstrate their dramatic ability by presenting "Inside the Lines," a war-time mystery in three acts. Each year the class improved and finally climaxed their dramatic career by a rip roaring Senior play, "Aunt Cindy Cleans up."

The class picnic, held at Cannon Beach in the early fall, proved to be one of the most enjoyable events of the closing term.

This class contributed many honor students, athletes, and members of the publication staffs and service clubs to prove itself mighty, although small.

The present Senior class entered Astoria High, as all green Sophomores have entered, with high hopes and a determination to make themselves known. Quite apparently they have done so.

Under the successful leadership of Mary Lou Wilson, Sophomore president, the class weathered all storms. This industrious group of Sophs built the bonfire after the rally, and the year was brought to a climax with the annual Sophomore Hop, which proved to be one of the best ever held at Patriot Hall. Incidentally, this was the last class to uphold the traditional hop and bonfire.

After such an active Sophomore year, the class entered their Junior year with no abatement of pep or enthusiasm. Myron Miller was elected president of the Junior class. With the presentation of the Junior Play "Inside the Lines," the class was again brought into the limelight. In honor of the graduating May Seniors, the Juniors gave much of their energy toward holding the annual Junior Prom. Clever decorations and its original theme made this prom spectacular.

By their Senior year, the class of '37 had established a reputation as an outstanding, lively, non-stop class. Jack Matzger, Eldred Hendrickson, Gladys Aspmo, and Robert Harrison were chosen to fill the offices. Many husky boys participated in athletics, and other members of the class contributed much of their talents in various sources.

With a bit of "Senior Dignity" added to their zeal, these May Seniors turned out to be a class that any school could be proud of. After the Senior Ball for the January Seniors was held, they began to practice for the play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which was under the direction of Miss Zoe Allen. After completion of this production all attention turned toward the picnic, banquet, baccalaureate and finally commencement. With Bishop Dagwell giving the parting address, the May Seniors of '37 bade Astoria High goodbye.

Upon entering Astoria High School this Sophomore class became known as one of the peppiest classes that has ever entered the school. The boys polished seals with great ardor, and the girls wore the traditional green ribbons. Under the leadership of President Donald Walker, these Sophomores won the Pep Rally and the Hi-Y Song Contest. Although these Sophomores did not hold their annual Sophomore Hop, they did sponsor a matinee dance, and held several dances after basketball games.

To start out their second year, this peppy class elected Brenham Van Dusen, president; Jimmy Lovell, vice-president; and Iona Gimre, secretary-treasurer.

The first honor of the year, which the Junior class took was the winning of the announcement contest, which netted them their first three points towards the Hi-Y Pep Cup.

The main event of the year came on the night of December 11, with the presentation of the thrilling mystery play, "The Valley of Ghosts," under the direction of Miss Cronter.

Approximately two hundred Sophomores entered Astoria High this year to complete three of the most memorable years of their lives.

The first six weeks all the Sophomore girls were recognized by their green ribbons. The boys were kept busy cleaning the school seals; also they were very careful to leave their "cords" at home. But when some unfortunate forgot and wore them to school, he received the "spats" from the Seniors.

Determined to be an outstanding class, the Sophomores started on their course by winning the first contest of the year. This was the ticket selling contest for the St. Helens-Astoria football game.

The Sophomore class has added many new members to the various school organizations. Athletics has claimed many, both boys and girls. The girls who are interested have joined the G. A. A. and have become prominent in its activities.

Football, basketball, and track teams have been strengthened by the large turn-out of Sophomore boys. Some have already earned permanent positions on the regular teams.

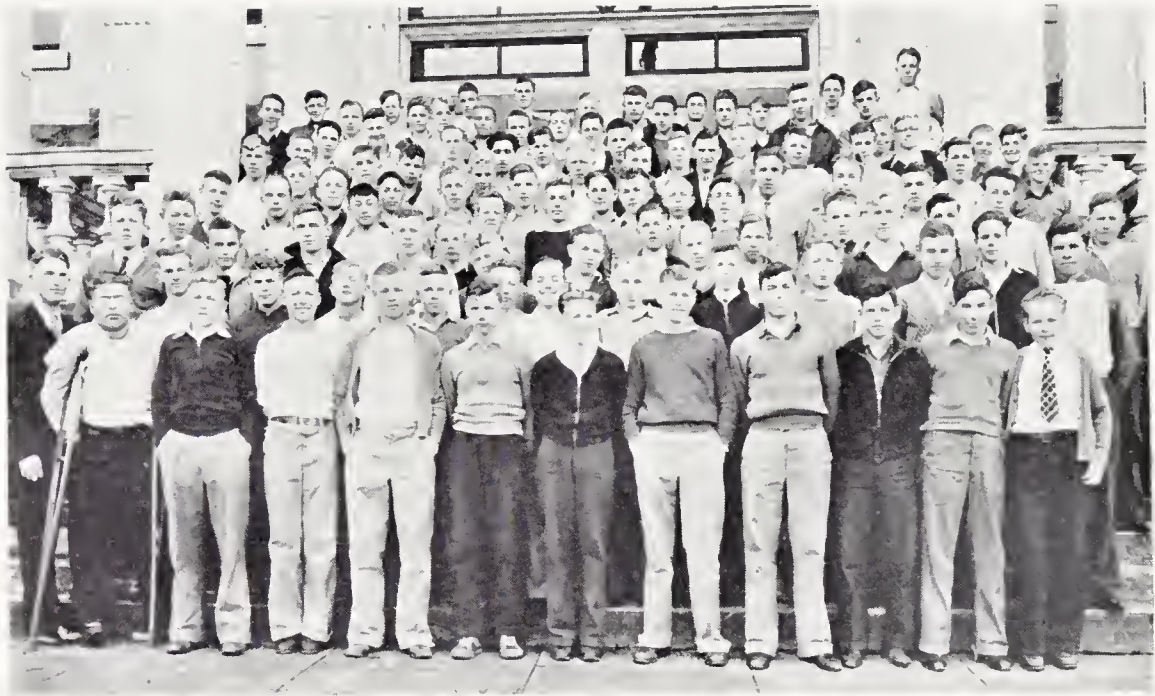

The Torch Honor also has an increase in membership because of the new Sophomores.

"P" stands for pride in the achievement of others; "E" stands for enthusiasm for things that are right; and last of all "P" stands for pep of which we've a lot. This is the slogan under which the Pep Club performs. Under the supervision of their adviser, Miss Betsy Wootton, these twelve upper class girls have striven to stimulate the interest of the students in athletics and other school activities.

Included in the activities of the club are ushering at basketball and football games; selling candy, hot dogs, peanuts, and ice cream bars; teaching the Sophomores yells and songs; selling of tickets to all high school games; giving a joint assembly with the Hi-Knights; sponsoring of dances; and sponsoring of annual banquets for the football and basketball squads.

Membership is restricted to twelve upper class girls with "C" averages, who have shown their pep and enthusiasm during their first year at high school.

First row: Pippo, Malmberg, Sauvola, Kelley, Danielson, Abrahamsen, Falleur.
Second row: McCallister, Starnes, Juola, Anet.

COACH EMIGH

TOIVO PIPPO played his second and last year at end. He was one of the outstanding pass-snatchers in the state.

WILLIAM MALMBERG showed plenty of fire in practice to rate a first-string tackle berth in his first year of high school competition.

LLOYD "JOE" SAUVOLA played his second year at guard. He was as large as an elephant on defense and an outstanding blocker on the offense.

WOODY KELLY's fighting Irish spirit and ability paved the way for his job as first-team center in his first year out.

"TUP" DANIELSON came up from Astor to make the first-team grade as a Sophomore. "Tup" held down the left guard position.

GEORGE ABRAHAMSEN, playing his third year at tackle, was the mainstay of the Fishermen front wall.

At left end was ARMAND FALLEUR, wide-awake and always waiting for the ball to be snapped so that he could rush in and mess up the offense plays.

BILL STARNES led the Fishermen to victory by his clever footwork and shiftiness on the turf. Bill starred at left half.

"BOOB" MCCALLISTER held down the other halfback post. It took an exceptionally good man to stop him once he got started.

CLIFFY ANET assumed the job of playing safety. Cliffy should show the same caliber of ball that his brother did in his high school career. Cliff is just a Sophomore.

And last but not least, there was "UNTTI" JUOLA, hard-hitting fullback. This was Eino's last year for the Purple and Gold.

Football Squad

First row: Richey, J. McCallister, Thompson, Porter
 Second row: Chester, Lovell, Spicer, Pickering, Korhonen, Kamara, Lokaa.
 Third row: Falleur, Pippo, Mahnberg, Sauvola, Danielsén, Abrahamsen, McCallister, Anet, Juola, Coach Emigh.
 Fourth row: Ness, Kelley, Starnes, Mr. Falleur, Frell, Phillips, Eskola, Graichen, Bjork.

Opening their season with a bang, the Fishermen drove over two touchdowns to defeat Commerce High of Portland 12-0.

Next on the schedule came Longview, a team not to be trifled with. Just a shade too confident after their recent victory over Commerce, Astoria made the trip to Longview only to succumb to the powerful Longview eleven 20-0.

Undaunted by their loss to Longview, the Fishermen took a 14-0 win over Ilwaco and an 18-0 victory from St. Helens.

Hood River furnished the keenest competition of the season. They were just able to push the ball over the line for a 6-0 victory at the hands of the local boys.

Once again the team travelled. This time they went to Salem to meet the highly-touted Viking eleven. The game was a nip-and-tuck one. Neither side being able to push over a score. The Fishermen came home determined for a victory. They were rewarded by a 38-0 score over St. Stephens, a 25-0 victory over Hill Military, and a 25-0 count with Seaside.

Playing in a fog so dense that the safety-man could hardly see his line, the Fishermen eleven nosed out Tillamook High 6-0 on the latter's field in the last game of the season.

A summary of the season's play gives Astoria eight victories, two losses, and one tie, for a $37\frac{1}{2}$ per cent average.

Astoria ran up a total of 153 points to only 33 for their opponents, giving them an average of almost 14 points per game to just 3 for their opponents.

Hoopsters

SANDNESS, PARKER, PIPPO, ANET, McCALLISTER

PORTER, ATHLETIC MANAGER

TOIVO PIPPO, sharpshooting forward for the last two years, played his last year of basketball in grand style this season. Toivo is an excellent dribbler, a fine passer, and was the highest scorer on the team. Toivo was awarded a berth on the All-District team and also honorable mention in the State Tournament.

CLIFFORD ANET, forward, playing his first year as a regular, has been the most consistent player on the squad. Although small in stature, he is a tricky passer and good shot.

EARL SANDNESS, lanky blonde center, played his first and last year as a regular. "Sandie," although bothered by an injured knee, was a very consistent scorer and a fine defensive player. Earl really "went to town" in Salem, breaking the individual scoring record by making sixty-eight points in four games.

HIRAM PARKER, playing his final year on the maple court for Astoria High, climaxed his three years of Astoria basketball with brilliant performances. He is one of the best and fastest dribblers in the state, and a remarkable set-shot artist.

ROBERT McCALLISTER, stellar guard, playing his last year of basketball, has been a consistent help to Coach Emigh's attack. "Boob" shines in the defensive position, being a scrappy player.

Substitutes

FULTON, SAARHEIM, HENNINGSEN, CEDERBERG, CARLSON

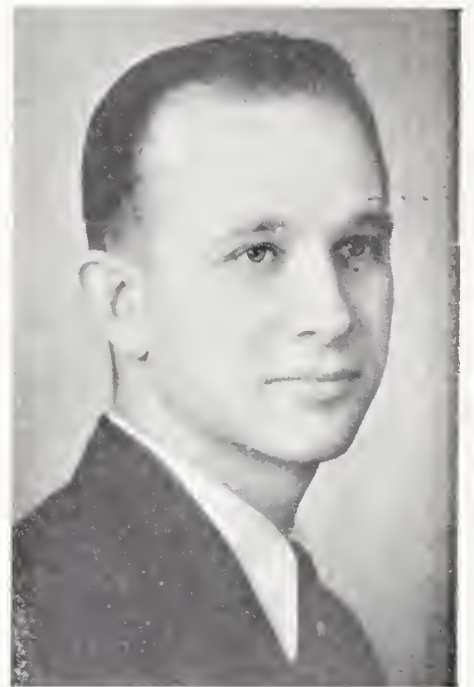

GEORGE FULTON, guard, although not a high scorer, is Emigh's best defensive player, having held some of the state's highest scorers to few or no points. George is a southpaw and is a very clever dribbler.

JOHN CEDERBERG's style of play can be best described in three words. He is dependable, cool, and very clever.

TED HENNINGSEN, lanky substitute center, has seen little action because of ineligibility. Using his great height to advantage, Ted has developed into a strong player under either basket.

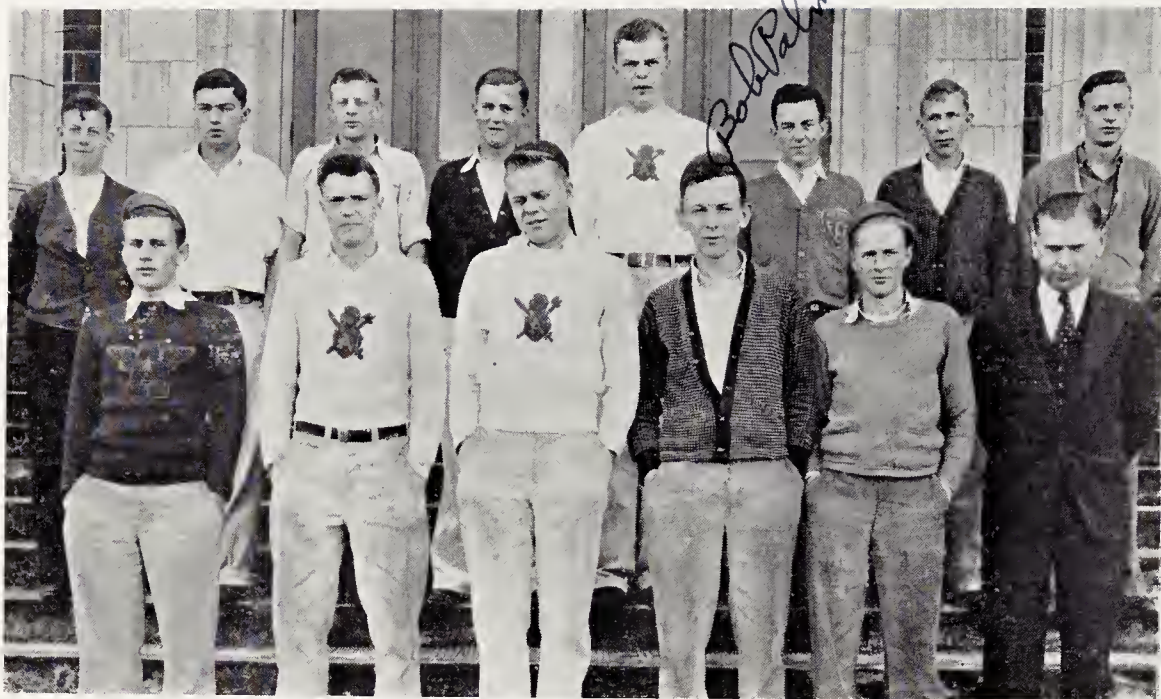

NORMAN SAARHEIM, alternating at center and forward, has turned in a creditable record. "Snort" is tall, shines in both offense and defense, and is always fighting for the ball. He specializes in one-handed push shots.

KENNY CARLSON, forward, playing his last year under Coach Emigh's mentorship, has showed up well under fire. He is a calm, and clever player, and a fine set-shot artist.

Adviser REUBEN JENSEN

Roaming around, lending assistance wherever needed in the school or at the football games, the thirteen Hi-Knights, under the advisership of Mr. Jensen, have proved a very valuable asset to the school. Bedecked in Purple and Gold jockey caps and wearing white sweaters, they patrol the football fields and keep order at the basketball games.

To become a member, a student must have a G average, certain qualities of leadership, and a willingness to work.

Projects undertaken by the club this year were the erection of a scoreboard at Gyro Field, patrolling at the football games, sponsoring an assembly with the Pep Club, keeping order at the class plays, school functions, and at the basketball games.

To further scholastic interests, to promote school citizenship, and to encourage knowledge are the purposes of the Torch Society. It is the only honorary club of its kind in Astoria High.

This year the constitution was amended. At present any candidate must have three E's and one G for the first twelve weeks of his Sophomore year. Any student or Senior who has failed to join may be elected into the club upon meeting certain requirements.

All members of this club are divided into different groups depending upon the number of points secured. At the end of the Sophomore year their one-bar pin is replaced by a two-bar pin if fifty-four points have been earned. Those who have earned eighty-four points in scholarship and activities may secure their torches.

Permanent possession of the torch is awarded to any graduating Senior who has earned one hundred and twenty points at the end of his Senior year. This is the highest award given to any high school student for scholarship.

Quill and Scroll

President JOHN LUM
Secretary-Treasurer MARY LOU WILSON

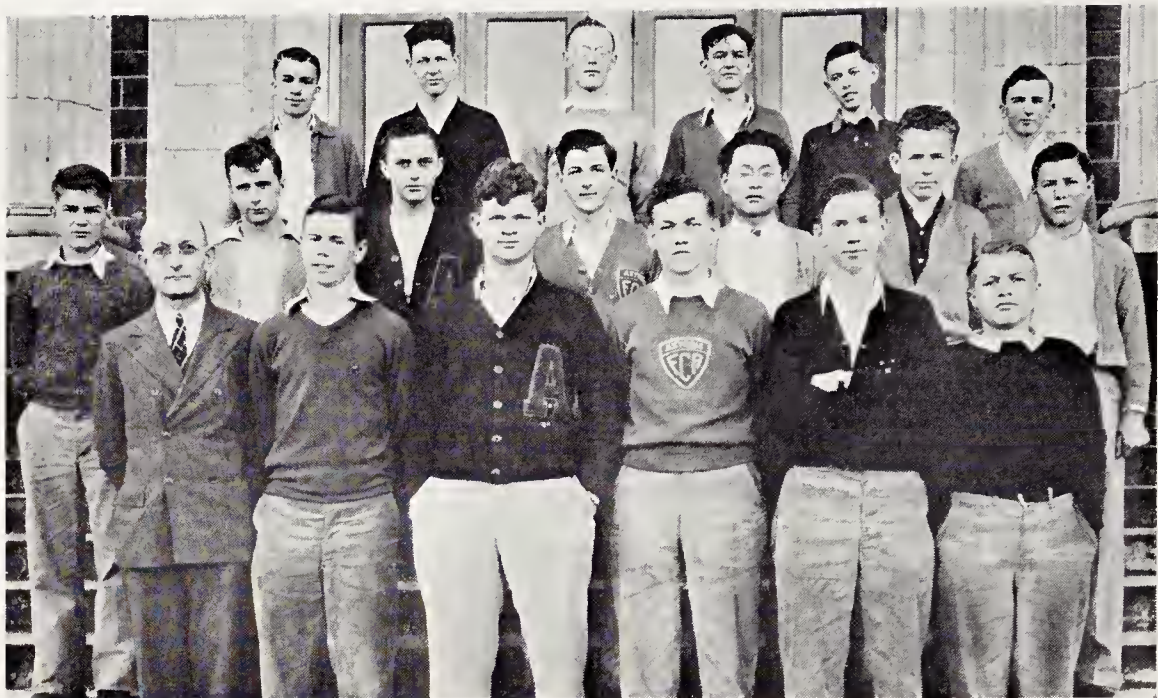

To further interest in journalism in high school is the purpose of the Quill and Scroll Society. Through the efforts of its members, classes in the various fields of journalism were held.

Results prove that the organization has accomplished much toward training a more competent staff for both the Astor Post and the Zephyrus. Not only has the society rendered services to the school, but it also provided much entertainment at Open House by publishing extras during the evening.

Because Quill and Scroll is an international honorary for high school journalists, about twelve thousand students wear the gold badge. Charters have been granted to a large number of schools in the United States and also in Hawaii, England, Alaska, China, and the British Honduras. In 1930, a charter was granted to Astoria High School, making it the Curry Chapter of Quill and Scroll.

In order to become a member, a student must meet the following requirements: 1. He must be of at least junior standing. 2. He must be in the upper third of his class in general scholastic standing. 3. He must have done superior work in some phase of journalistic work. 4. He must be recommended by the supervisor. 5. He must be approved by the National Secretary-Treasurer.

Trying to spread the idea of “clean living, clean speech, clean scholarship, and a contagious Christian character,” the Hi-Y’s have again completed a very successful year, under the capable supervision of Mr. Thompson.

The Hi-Y’s are always ready and willing to donate both services and finances to help in any way in improving the school. They are especially noted for their advertising in assemblies and for the all-purpose bulletin board, which is one of the more recent donations of the club.

Together with the usual projects consisting of hot dog sales, taking of tickets at the football games, and the bi-annual song contest, the club this year held the annual Older Boys’ Conference in Astoria. The club has helped to establish an interclub council composed of the officers of the four Hi-Y clubs in the county.

Another new project was the sponsorship of a pep contest between classes. Points were given to the winning classes in the yell contest, song contest, ticket selling, and participation in all school activities. A cup is to be presented to the wining class at the end of the year.

"To find and give the best," the slogan of the Tri-Y Club, portrays the ideal of this club. The purpose of the club is to endeavor to develop the three-fold life of every member—mind, body, and spirit—to lay a good foundation for her future life, and to provide entertainment for all girls who are interested in this particular work.

Every year the Tri-Y's present the Christmas assembly. Twice a year they hold a recognition service at one of the local churches, at which time the new girls are taken into the club. The annual ring service was also held at the same time this spring as the recognition service. About 24 girls received their rings and 15 girls were recognized.

Every summer a mid-summer conference is held at Seabeck, Washington, where girls from all over the Northwest gather to participate in two weeks of enjoyment and discussion of club problems and organization. A mid-winter conference is also held at some city in Oregon.

"A" Club

Secretary-Treasurer	TOIVO PIIPPO
Adviser	COACH GEORGE EMIGH

In 1923, Coach Lloyd Sowers felt the need of a club for all lettermen and therefore organized the "A" Club.

The purpose of the "A" Club is to unite the lettermen in order to further the boys' interest in athletics. The club has also taken upon itself the duty of instructing the sophomore boys in the cleaning of the Sophomore floor and the grounds of the school. The "A" Club also holds weekly hot-dog sales, and occasionally sponsors dances. Coach Emigh has been the adviser for the past two years.

There is no definite limit to the membership of the "A" Club. Every boy who has earned a letter in athletics automatically becomes a member. Neither is there a definite time for meetings, but when there is important business to be discussed, a meeting is held.

This year the following boys were initiated into the club: Earl Sandness, John Cederberg, George Harris, Fane Pickering, Norman Saarheim, Vernon Larsen, Frank Parker, Jim Lovell, Russell Urell, Cliff Anet, Bob Phillips, Woodrow Kelley, Ken Ness, Bill Malmberg, Davis Danielsen, Armand Falleur, and Wilson Porter.

Any girl who is interested and who has earned ten points in any sport is eligible for membership in the Girls' Athletic Association. The G. A. A. is a state-wide organization, the Astoria chapter being organized in 1931.

The purpose of the G. A. A. is to further the girls' interest in the many different phases of athletics and to provide entertainment for those interested. Awards are presented for points earned in these various sports, by the following plan: sixty points merit a numeral; one hundred points, an "A;" one hundred and fifty points, an "O." At the end of each year a gold pin is given to the girl who has shown the most interest and received the most points in the club. This year the pin was presented to Grace Gramms.

In 1931 vocational work was started in Astoria High by Mr. Gibson. This training is becoming more popular every year in other parts of the United States as well as in Astoria.

The Vocational Club is comprised of students who take vocational education, and who work as apprentices in the afternoon on school days and all day Saturday. An innovation this year was the addition of girls to this class. The girls are eligible for membership in the Vocational Club, but they are not admitted into the Future Craftsmen of America, a national organization of which the Vocational Club is a branch.

The members of the club are working at the following types of occupations: machinist, office management, automobile sales and service, painting and interior decorating, auto mechanics, wholesale gas and oil distributors, optometrist assistants, retail grocery, baking, service station attendant, boat building, photography, retail furniture salesmanship, power and light supplyman.

In 1928 the Home Economics Club was organized in Astoria High. Since that time the club has been very active in working out various projects.

Home Economics Club members met twice a month on Mondays this year at the Y. W. C. A., at which time they had a guest speaker, program, or some other form of entertainment. On the other two Mondays they had short meetings at noon in the Home Economics room. A formal initiation is held once each term, after which the neophytes provide the entertainment and serve the refreshments.

In order to become a member of the Home Economics Club, a girl must be either a Junior or Senior, majoring in Home Economics, and maintaining a G average in all her subjects.

Several times during the term the club held pie sales at noon. Another important project of the club was the style show at the Annual Open House.

Publishing a yearbook which would truly represent the school life of Astoria High has been the main object of the 1937 Zephyrus staff.

The art department, with Lenore Isaacson as editor and Reuben Jensen as adviser, has effectively carried out the theme "The Columbia River" with numerous maps and sketches of river scenes. This department also provided the drawings of the emblem of each organization and the sketches of the school building.

The first task of the business staff was to obtain three hundred subscriptions and collect the first payment. Miriam Lukkonen, business manager, and Miss Violet Crofoot, adviser, so promptly fulfilled this duty, that the editorial department was able to begin work much sooner this year than usual.

Under the faithful guidance of Miss Curry, the editor of the yearbook decided upon the theme, style of the book, arrangement of pictures and color scheme of the book. The editorial department organizes the literary material and supervises the photography.

The book is put out on a fall basis, the pictures being taken in the fall of the year.

Every other Friday during the school year, the entire student body look forward to receiving the Astor Post, the semi-monthly school newspaper published by the Astor Post staff.

It was first issued in 1923 under the head, "Astoria Hi Life." Because it was meant to be more than just an account of social life, the head was soon changed to the present name, which it has retained ever since.

In 1931-32 the paper won All-American Honor Rating in the National Scholastic Press Association; in 1934-35, First Class Honor Rating.

Work is carried on in the Astor Post office, from which can be heard the sound of scribbling pencils and banging typewriters, during the week before publication. For the Senior and Junior plays, Astor Posts were printed with the programs of the performances. Special editions were also printed at Christmas and graduation this year.

To create further interest a contest was originated during the fall term. Prizes were awarded at the close of each third issue to the reporter, typist, and headliner turning in the most work during the six weeks. An all-time record was gained by Warren Grimberg, sports editor, by writing eighty-six inches of news.

Creating and furthering an interest in dramatics in the school is the purpose of the Deba Dram Club, which was organized just seventeen years ago.

The membership of the club is limited to twenty members, vacancies being filled at the close of each semester, if desired.

The Deba Drams sponsored again this year their annual Deba Dram Amateur Hour, thus encouraging much interest for dramatics and for performing before an audience. Twenty students participated, contributing to the program a variety of comic acts, and violin, piano, and vocal solos.

The club also held its annual party, picnic, and Deba Dram Assembly during the year. In addition to the regular list of activities, a short play was presented at the Hi-Jinks, and a free matinee program was given for the benefit of the students.

To become a member of the Library Club a student must show an interest in library work and take an active part in assisting Miss Halderman, the librarian.

The duties of the assistant librarians are to take roll, check out and put away books, and keep the shelves and the library in order. These assistants also help the students find books and references.

You can easily recognize the club members by the purple and gold arm bands that they wear.

Although the club was organized only last year, it has already taken an important part in school activities by sponsoring sales and dances. They have raised money to furnish the library with new equipment.

In the spring term under the presidency of Ann Hughes, the club held several social meetings at the homes of the members.

Glee Clubs

An innovation in musical programs at the high school this year was "An Evening of Music," presented by the combined Glee Clubs and Tri-Y Chorus, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth R. Ogden.

The High School Chorus, composed of the Girls' Glee Club, with sixty-five members, and the Boys' Glee Club, with twenty members, is one of the largest ever organized in this school.

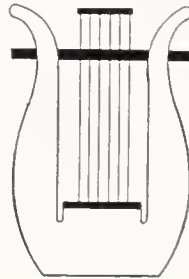

The Glee Clubs made their first public appearance of the year at the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises in January. In addition to "The Evening of Music," presented in March, the clubs also gave a concert in May.

To become a member of the chorus one must meet the requirements of the music director and be able to adjust his schedule to the practice periods.

Orchestra

First row: Elliott, Bagby, Jackson, Miss Ogden, Potter, Howell, Livingston.
Second row: Duff, Maunala, Trullinger, Ogilvy, Morgan, Ogilvy, Gimre, Niemala, Boney.
Third row: Halsan, Stevens, Erickson, Leinenweber, Cole, Linsan, Lum.

This has been an eventful year for the Orchestra. Newly organized under the leadership of Miss Elizabeth R. Ogden, this group made its debut during the Junior Class Play, when it helped to create the jittery atmosphere so necessary for "The Valley of Ghosts."

Functioning in its usual capacity, this organization has, as this is being written, already done its share in one baccalaureate and commencement rites. Before the close of the year's activities, the Orchestra will have appeared in a concert and in another graduation exercise.

Any student who plays a musical instrument is eligible to join the Orchestra. With its present personnel, plus its new sets of music, this organization faces a promising future.

Tri-Y Chorus

First row: Ames, Elliott, Miss Ogden, Sanborn, Samuelson.
Second row: Paulsen, Jackson, Waisanen, Potter, Halderman, Schaudt.
Third row: Niemala, Beard, Gramms, Bakkenen.

This group is one of the busiest organizations in our school. Despite the fact that the majority of the chorus were new members of the group this year, the Tri-Y Chorus has made splendid progress under the direction of Miss Elizabeth R. Ogden.

The requirements for membership in the Tri-Y Chorus are that the girl be a Tri-Y member and try out by singing before Miss Ogden and the chorus. This year try-outs were held each term. Miss Ogden selected those showing special talent.

The old saying, "The early bird gets the worm," holds true with these girls, for their practices were held every morning at eight o'clock. The Tri-Y Chorus has sung not only on school programs but also before leading civic organizations, thereby gaining a favorable reputation for the school, the Tri-Y Club, and themselves.

Friday the thirteenth was not an unlucky day for the January Senior Class, for their play, “Aunt Cindy Cleans Up,” which was presented on that date, proved to be a great success.

The plot concerns Lois Clayton who has always led a very sheltered life, and Clair Harlow, with whom Lois is visiting. Clair hires a queer old maid, Aunt Cindy Timkins, to stay with them during her uncle’s absence.

Many complications arise as Aunt Cindy is mistaken for Claire’s Aunt Sabine, who is to inherit the city of Claytonville if she marries within a week. The tangled situation is finally solved satisfactorily for everyone.

Much comedy is provided by Mrs. Dawson, the town gossip, her small daughter, Marcella, and the country lovers, Biff Budkins and Hester Hart.

Headed by Virginia McConkey, the Girls' League Council, under the advisership of Miss Charlotte Rudd and Miss Isabel Willsie, Dean of Girls, has directed the League through its usual functions and social activities of the year.

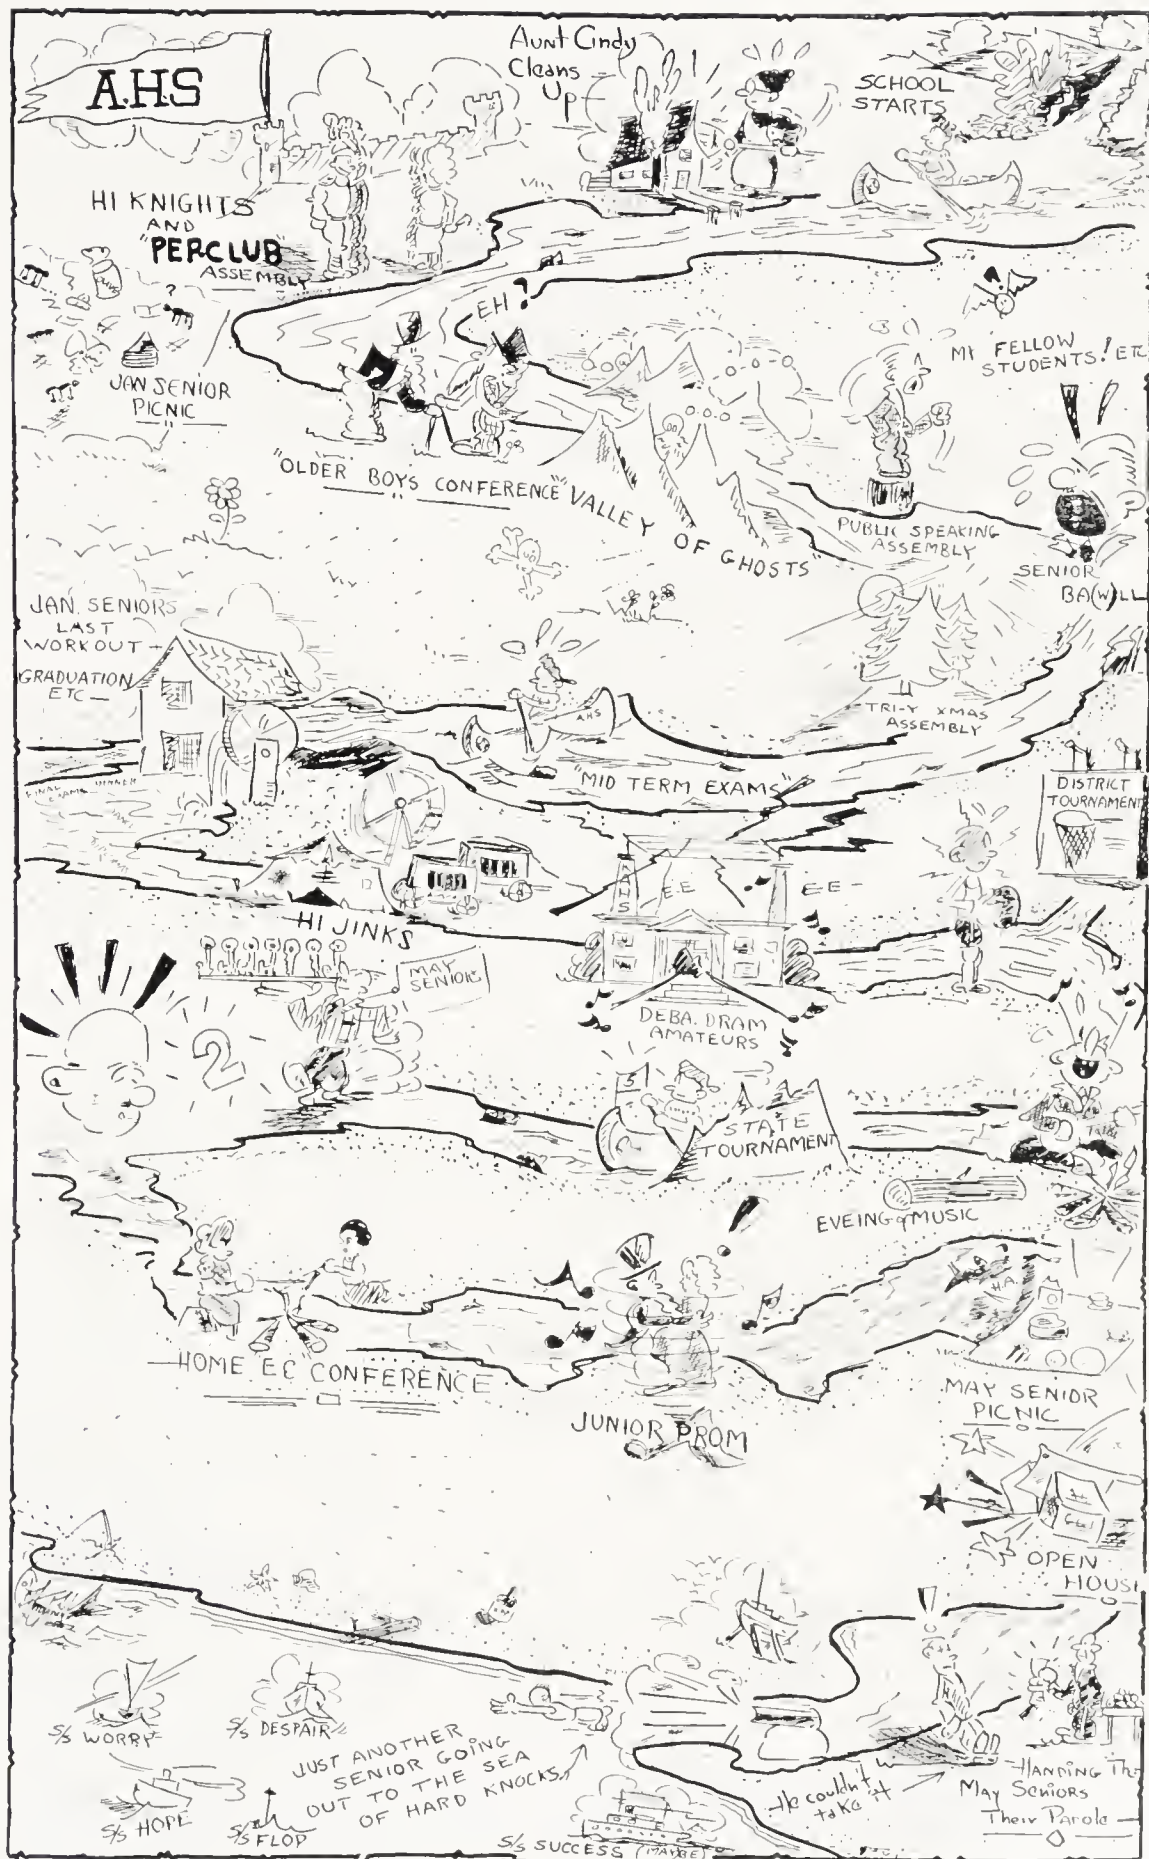

Listed on its calendar of altruistic projects were the contributions of food and clothing following the Bandon fire and the donations brought for Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, which were given to the Red Cross to distribute.

To promote a friendly feeling between the new and the old girls, at the beginning of the term the upper-class girls were requested to sign on the Big Sister List, each to be responsible for at least one new girl.

Upon entering high school, each girl automatically becomes a member of the Girls' League. The Council consists of the officers and the representatives from each class.
